EXPLANATIONS.

** indicate such Hyacinths and Polyanthus Narcissus as are most proper for forcing either in pots, glasses or moss; those marked with * succeed best in pots; all are proper for the open borders.

The Amaryllidaceæ (page 9) are chiefly greenhouse or stove plants; the hardy kinds are designated. The Iridaceæ are proper for the greenhouse or frame, but they succeed very well in the open borders with a little protection.

September, October and November are the best months for general planting. Iris and Fritillaries do not keep well out of the ground, and should be planted as soon as received, any time during the months of September and October; but they, as well as other hardy bulbs, may be planted much later.

Ladies and Gentlemen are respectfully informed, that if the choice of the Hyacinths, &c. is left to J. Carter, he will guarantee their giving entire satisfaction.

J. Carter requests to be informed whether the Hyacinths are intended for water, pots, or the open borders; also whether double or single Hyacinths are preferred, or part of each. If the selection is left to him, he generally sends two-thirds double and one-third single, which will be found to give greater variety. Hyacinths may be arranged with much more effect when there are duplicates or triplicates of the same kind.

INDEX.

The Scientific Name of the Bulbs and the usual time of flowering when planted in Autumn are given. Explanations: 1-2 January and February; 5-9 May to September. Hyacinths, Nareissus, Crocus, Tulips, &c. when forced flower much earlier than when planted in the open ground; the early sorts of Hyacinths, for instance, when forced bloom in February and March; in the open ground in April and May.—g indicates Greenhouse or Frame; s Stove; † Greenhouse, Frame or open borders; * proper for pots; ** for glasses and for the open borders; those without designation are for the open borders only.
